THE STORY

Creating a doll like Emma was a childhood dream. I have always wanted a doll like she is: Soft, cuddly, likeable. Unique, that no one else has the same. The design was based on traditional porcelain dolls, so I had to go into a lot of side branches of design before I stopped experimenting with porcelain-like materials. Emma is made of natural materials: wood, fabric and natural filling. She has a classical style so she recalls the era when the games were personal and unique. Each doll is a different character, because they were made with handwork... made with care and love.

EDITION

CONTINUE

After a couple of month there is Emma's new (2nd) edition, I had to couninue the story! This time traveling is the theme. In the Emmagazin you can see my favorite pictures from tourist class to the luxury category.

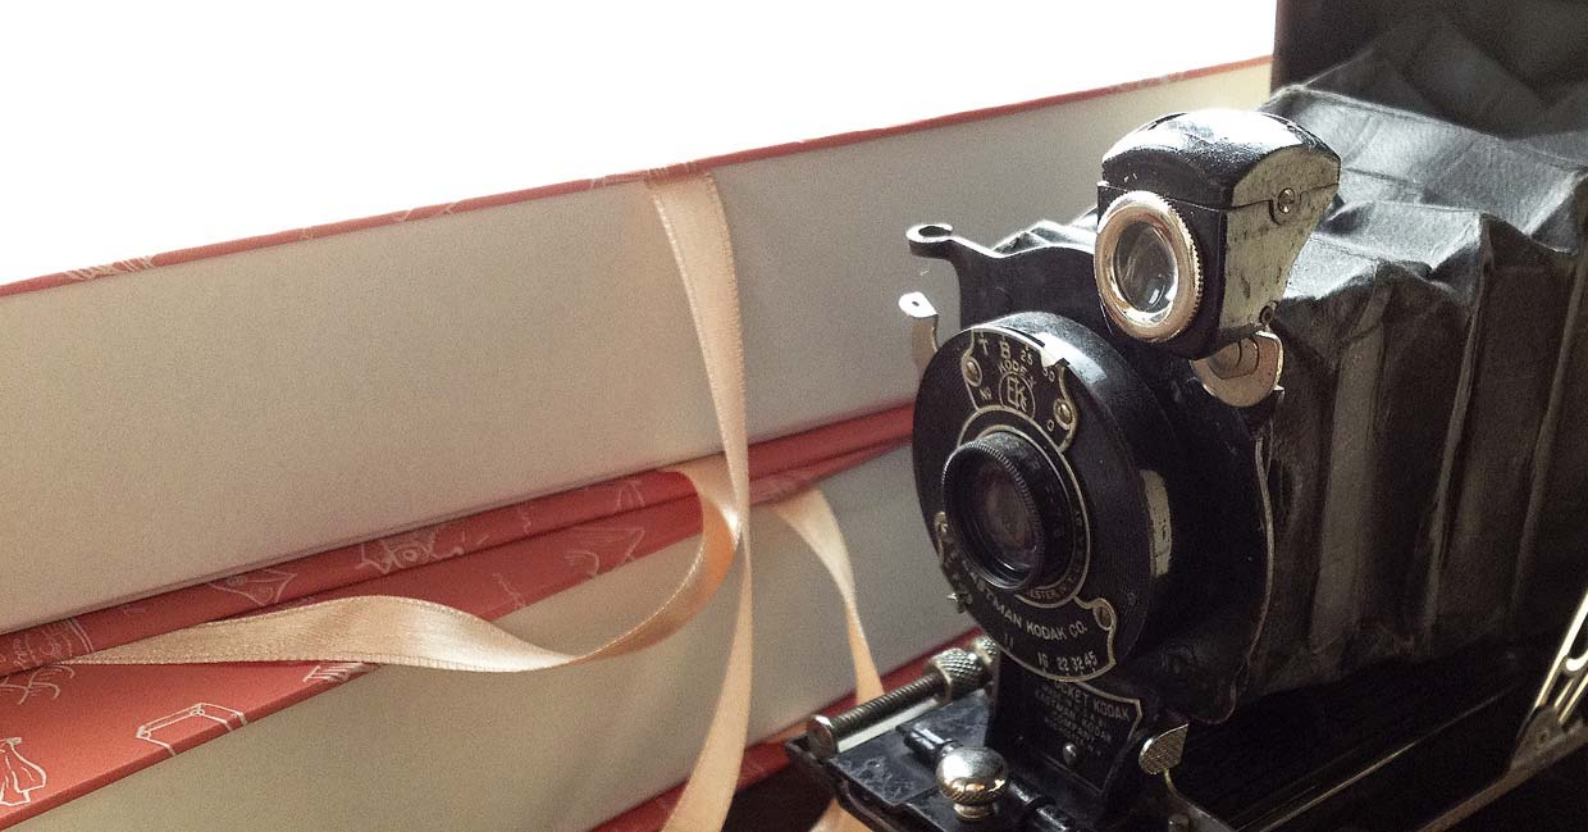

DRESSING UP

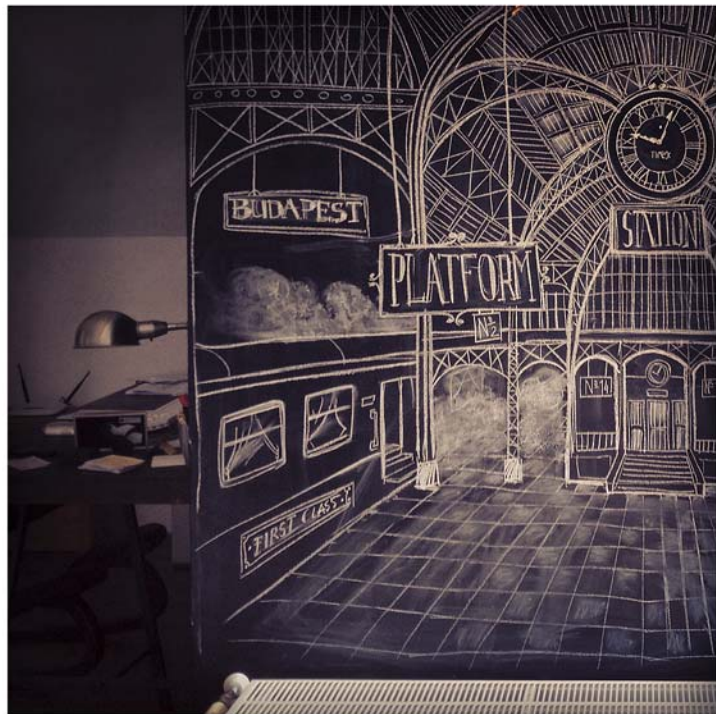

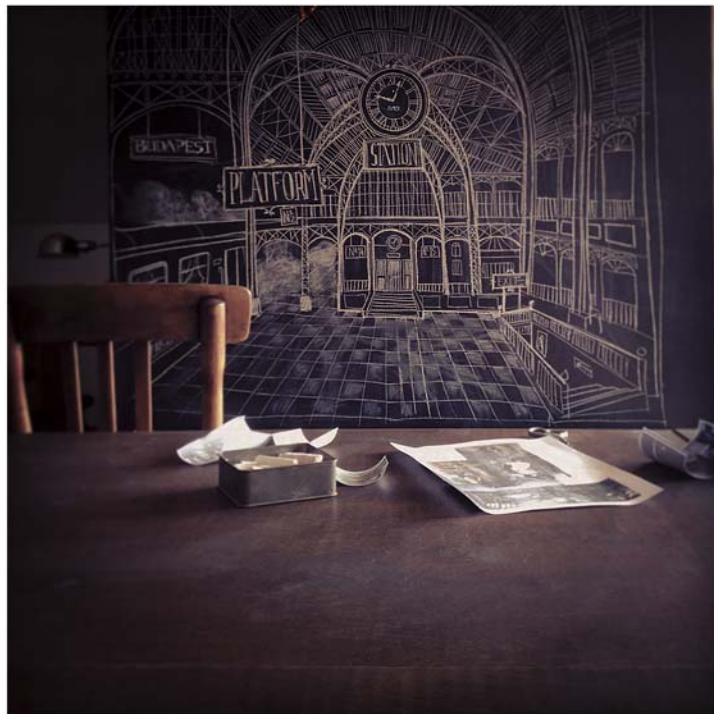

THE THEME

Emma is traveling now. One morning in the twenties, she woke up and found herself packing in her checkered suitcase. Maybe she knows where she is traveling, but maybe she will only decide at the station. She passes lovely train stops and train stations, drinks coffee in the dining car and I'm sure she has great little adventures. She's a cool gal. Send pictures of where she's been! :-)

SPECIAL THANKS TO:

I am grateful to my husband for his help and patience. He supported me even beyond the boundaries of common sense in the whole doll process. Hugs and kisses for my daughter, Bojka for the wonderful graphics. The boxes wouldn't be that nice without her work! Thank you for the seamstresses for their enthusiasm, and accurate work! We really made a good work together!... Thanks to my friends who patiently listened to the stories of Emma, a thousand times.
